9 Tailed bandages, Mrs Lily

An accident, which might have had more serious consequences occurred on Saturday last. It happened that Mrs George Bates and her little son were driving into town and had to pass a team (owned by us) to the fence by the lines. This team broke away and frightened the horse Mrs Bates was driving and she was thrown and badly shaken up. The boy, who was asleep in the bottom of the buggy, was carried on for about half a mile and then he was also thrown out, sustaining severe injuries to the head and face. They were brought into town and their injuries were attended to. Mr George Bates was in Calgary at the time, but hurried home on hearing of the accident.

Town Council.

A meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council-chambers on Tuesday evening, August 8th, there being present, Mayor Lambert, Coun. Butler, Bremer, Berry and Anderson, also the secretary, G. H. Hill.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. A letter was read from Mr T. M. Warr, enclosing a declaration from H. J. Bradley, regarding the extension of his taxes. Coun. Butler moved Coun. Berry seconded that the letter be handed over to the Town Solicitor. Only one account was presented, this being J. Deane, $10.80. Moved by Coun. Butler, seconded by Coun. Berry that same be handed over to the Finance Committee.

Councillor Butler brought forward a motion that By-Law No. 6 relating to the enforcement of a licence on shows playing in the Opera House be rescinded. He brought forward several arguments to support the motion, one being that the town had no right to make such a by-law as there was already a Provincial licence covering such shows. Therefore the By-law was illegal. The Council resolved all took part in the discussion, as also did H. H. Tucker, who reminded the Council that under the same By-law the town could collect the sum of $1000 per annum from the Opera House, this being the licence for a playhouse or theatre. The By-law had been on the books 5 years and had never been enforced, therefore the Opera House owed the town the sum of $5000. As there was no seceder to the motion the Mayor declared same to be lost.

Moved by Coun. Bremer, seconded by Coun. Berry that the secretary consult the town Solicitor, Mr J. J. Petrie as to whether or not the By-law was legal.

This concluding the business the Council adjourned on the motion of Coun. Berry, seconded by Coun. Butler.

A very successful garden party was held on July 29th at the Shoolidge Ranch. Ice cream and refreshments were sold during the afternoon, and supper was served, on the lawn, in the evening. The sum realized was $90.65.

Tudor Notes.

Work on the new Passage at Tudor has been started. Mr Harvey contributed all the gravel necessary for the foundation and Messrs D and S Garriot sent teams and wagons to haul it to the site. To Messrs Gus Nichols and David England belongs the honor of turning the first sod. This was ably performed under the superintendence of Mr England, Sr., and Mr Douglas Horn. Though the day was fearfully hot the boys labored only the heads of perspiration bearing witness both to their willingness and the hardness of the sod. The work was continued the next day by Mr Sim Garriot and the Schuler boys. The pastor's message to any others who have a few hours to spare is "Go and do thou likewise." Times are so busy that it is difficult to find a carpenter, but when one is secured the work will go right ahead.

BUY AN IRRIGATED FARM FROM THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

BECAUSE—
Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and insures good crops, not occasionally, but EVERY YEAR.
Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of fodders, which insures best returns in dairying and mixed farming.
Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement, with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.
Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.
You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $50 to $75 per acre, with twenty years to pay and the privilege of loans of $2500 for improvements (8 per cent interest) no principal payment at the end of first five years.
This is a second, rare and no water rental for first year. Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved instances.
This is the only offer of irrigated farm land on record, that full particulars from.

After Straw, The Hat of Silk or Feathers

Panne Velvet Drapes Gracefully.

Peacock Colorings and Velvet Trims

The Porcupine Hat

*This Toque Borrows
Guinea Hen Plumage*

Feathers of Ravens Wing Blue

"WHAT shall we wear after our straw hats are passe?" cry up-to-date women. Fashion kindly comes to the rescue, plenty ahead of time, too, with all sorts of hats except straw even while the summer sun beats down in its fury. First she compromised with velvet crowns on straw brims and a few velvet brims on straw crowns, but now she offers you some hats which you can wear well into the fall.

Probably there is no time, outside of straw hat time, when the feather turban is exactly out, and for the woman who likes a small hat these are decidedly smart. After the large sailors of the summer one will enjoy setting a close-fitting turban of plumage in peacock colorings on one's head. To give both chic and height there should be stiffened ends of peacock blue velvet.

The porcupine hat fairly bristles with style. It is fashioned out of quills stripped of all but a few stiff fronds. The crown of this fetching hat is of rose satin to match the velour coat with which it is worn.

Can anything be prettier than the mottled plumage of the guinea fowl? Here it is mounted, wings and all, on a close-setting turban. There is no silk about this hat, for even the crown is covered with the soft feathers.

Corbeau blue, or translated from the French, raven's-wing blue, is the color of the other feather-trimmed hat. Tiny overlapping wings trim this feather-covered toque, starting in coronet effect from the center front. A blond girl with blue eyes would be startlingly attractive in a hat of this sort.

Panne velvet drapes gracefully. Here it is shown puffed on to a foundation of corded silk in the same rich green. A single pin, the favorite millinery trimming of the moment, holds the drapings on the right side.

Are you willing to exchange the shade of your large straw hat for one of these smart bonnets of silk or feathers?

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 9, 1916

We would remind our readers that we have opened a subscription list for the Calgary Herald Tobacco Fund. This Fund provides 'smokes' for the boys in the trenches. A constant demand is being made from overseas for 'more tobacco'. Fifty cigarettes and 15-penny Old Chum tobacco can be sent for 25¢. This list will only be open 30 days and we would like to make up the sum of $25,000 in that period. Two-bits is not very large sum, but think of the happiness and comfort it will bring to some lonely soldier boy in those far-off trenches.

The decision of the SHOWS HAVE COUNCIL last Tuesday evening to enforce the by-law regarding shows coming into town means that in future all theatrical troupes and entertainers will have to enrich the Town Exchequer to the extent of five dollars before they are allowed to depart. The town is in need of money and it is up to them to get in all they can. But why not enforce all the by-laws that are revenue producing?—Verbum sat sapientia.

Some kind of supervision is badly needed at the Park lake, where the younger members of our community are down indulging in a swim. The bigger lads, so we are informed make a practice of throwing the little fellows out into the water and think it great fun. One of these days there will be a drowning fatality. Then we shall be kicking and shouting "Why was this allowed to go on?" It will be too late then. The time to remedy this is NOW.

"My Experiences in Germany"

Elmer L. Luck Gives Interesting Lecture in Methodist Church.

Resolution of Support Unanimously Carried.

Much has appeared in the papers from time to time since the outbreak of the Great War about the way in which the Germans are treating their prisoners and also regarding the ideals of the German Nation themselves. Statements have appeared in columns that have made us stop and think it was possible in this so-called enlightened age of civilization that there were people on this fair earth who could commit such terrible crimes. Deeds against which the credits and tortures which the savage tribes used to inflict upon their victims are a mere nothing. Strathmore people had the privilege on Thursday evening of listening to a lecture by a man who has had the experience of being a prisoner of war in Germany. The lecturer, Mr. Elmer L. Luck, was studying in Leipzig University previous to the outbreak of war and was in Germany as a soldier of the British Empire. He, amongst many others, was put into prison and was detained there for some time. His release from Germany was eventually effected, mostly through the efforts of the American Consul, Ambassador Gerard.

The meeting was also called for the purpose of commemorating the second anniversary of the war, and to pass a resolution (which was passed) all over the British Empire pledging ourselves to continue this struggle for liberty and justice to a victorious end.

The lecture was held in the Methodist Church and was well attended, the seating accommodation of the church being taxed to its utmost capacity. Rev. Bathurst Hall was the chairman for the evening and in his opening remarks explained the object of the meeting. He briefly outlined the reason why Britain had entered into this war, and to preserve those ideals of liberty and justice in which we are so religiously believed.

This war had brought home to us in no unmistaken way the true meaning of the word "sacrifice". We had been called upon to sacrifice a great deal, but we should be prepared for even greater sacrifices.

We should be prepared to give up everything we have, everything near and dear to us. Mothers have given their sons; wives their husbands; we should be prepared to give not only our money and goods but even our own lives in order that civilization might be saved. He spoke of the power of prayer and mentioned that this was a splendid opportunity for us all to use that power. Prayer from the heart, not for our individual selves, but for the whole of humanity; a united prayer, so that the voice of the nation would rise to the Throne of God asking for His help and guidance in this terrible struggle, and that a lasting peace would come to this world. (Applause.) He then introduced the speaker for the evening.

Mr. Elmer L. Luck, who received a hearty welcome in his opening remarks, stated that he did not intend to give any lurid picture of the spreadings in any way the subject on which he was going to speak. He was simply going to tell them his actual experiences in Germany before and during the war. Before telling of his own experiences he would speak of the characteristics of the German people as he found them. The women of that country did not occupy the same social position as they did here. They were looked down on. He related one or two incidents that he saw in Leipzig. He saw elderly women delivering coal and also saw women hauling a wagon of vegetables through the streets. Smoking was very prevalent among members of the female sex, and it was a common sight to see women in the beer gardens sitting down at the tables with a pipe in front of them and a cigarette in their mouth. He had also seen them smoking cigars. There was very little religion in Germany; they appeared to lead a godless life. On Sundays the theatres and places of amusement did a greater business than on any other day in the week. The people were not only one side of a question and list side is right. It was strange to think that the country has turned out so brilliant men in science, music, literature, etc., as taken on the whole the German people were very stupid and dull. They have not the spirit of independence which we enjoy. They grovelled to those in authority and were obedient servants. Those above them exercised a spirit of tyranny to those under them. The reason the outrages were committed "on the women and children in Belgium and other places was not hard to find. The moral standard of the country was very low, and the speaker gave statistics from German papers which substantiated his statements. Apart from this, however, Germany was a wonderfully organized country. That was the reason they had been able to withstand the attacks of the Allies for so long. Every-thing was organized. Their resources were utilized to the utmost advantage. Even the school children gathered copper, brass, etc., and left no stone unturned. They found anything to bring to school to help in making shells for the army of "Der Vaterland". At the outbreak of the war girls of the country offered themselves as nurses. They were trained in the hospitals and after a few weeks were able to take the place of the regular nurses who were sent overseas. The British subjects did not realize how serious things were and it came as a surprise when Germany declared war on Russia. The German people were constantly being assured from day to day that Britain would not take part in this war, and even if she did, it would in all probability be on the side of the Germans. When the news came on that evening day, August 4th, 1914, that Britain had declared war the people were overwhelmed, they lost all power of speech. They could not understand why it was that Britain, whom they had been led to believe (by their own authorities) was their greatest friend, had would remain neutral, had as it appeared to them, suddenly turned round and deserted them. That, said Mr. Luck, was the reason the German people had such a deep hatred for the British. They had also been told that the Colonies would not side with Britain. They were very nice to the Canadians until Canada began to raise an army to send overseas. Up to that time anyone from this continent was always spoken of as an American, but when Canada started to raise an army they were no longer spoken of as Americans, but as "cursed Canadians". With regard to the own experiences, he said that all the other British were expelled from the Leipzig University shortly after war was declared. It was a hard blow to him as he was within a few days of taking his degree. He realized now, however, that that degree would not be worth anything in the eyes of the world after what had happened. He therefore did not mind losing it for that reason. (Applause.) He was left with two little girls (his wife having died some few months before) and shortly after being expelled from the university he was awakened by the police one morning about six o'clock and taken to prison. He was not allowed to see his children and was not told what had become of them. He spoke of the indignities and insults to which the British civil-ians were subjected on account of the treatment of those who were sick. Some of the stories he told made one's blood run cold with horror. After his release from prison he was ordered to leave Leipzig within three hours. The Germans were using that city for military purposes and were afraid that he might obtain information which would be sent to the Allies. He went to another town about 200 miles away and on arriving there could not get accommodation at the hotel owing to the fact that he was a Canadian. He managed, however, to get private rooms. His children were compelled to attend school, but were not allowed to continue with their studies in school. They were expelled on orders from the minister of education and were sent to the lowest grade in the city. They had to put up with not only the jeers and jibes of the other pupils but were also insulted by the teachers. Through the efforts of Ambassador Gerard (U. S. Consul) he was enabled to be exchanged with some more prisoners and he felt very thankful for it. He came back to Canada and hoped he should stay here now. His experiences had been quite enough. He reminded his hearers of the ideals for which we were fighting and although he felt confident of the ultimate success of the Allies, we had a great struggle ahead and should be prepared to make even greater sacrifices than we already had. At the end of his lecture the speaker was loudly applauded.

The Chairman then called upon Mr. W. E. Brown to move the resolution.

Mr. Brown, in a few well chosen words explained that this resolution was an Imperial thing. Similar meetings were to be held all over the British Empire, the idea of which emanated from the Imperial Parliament. He then read the resolution which was as follows:

"Resolved that on this the second anniversary of the declaration of a national war, disesteeming the citizens of Strathmore records its irrefutable determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle in maintenance of those ideals of liberty and justice which are the common and sacred cause of the Allies."

Mr. W. Vickery, J. P., very ably seconded the resolution, which on being put to the meeting by the chairman was carried unanimously.

Rev. I. P. Berry, next proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Luck for his very interesting lecture. It had been a great privilege to us all to have been enabled to listen to such things. We had read and doubted had been placed before us in such a manner that we could no longer doubt but were bound to accept them as facts. The things we had heard that evening would stay long in our memory. He therefore proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Luck.

Dr. Givins seconded the motion and stated what a pleasure it had been to all to listen to such an eloquent address. The motion was received with

Commemoration Day at Ardenode.

Commemoration — Why? For some time, especially since the tide has turned in favor of the Allies, there have been rumors of Peace issuing from German agents. As peace now would leave England's war uncompleted and merely give Germany time to recover her strength for another struggle, thinking people throughout the Empire have been anxious to strengthen their hands of those at present guiding its destinies by an expression of opinion from the various Overseas Dominions.

This project, so heartily endorsed by Lieut. Governor Brett and the Provincial Government was carried out at the Ardenode Picnic, after the Patriotic addresses, which were listened to with the closest attention.

The first speaker, Mrs. (Dr) Kene, of Edmonton, took as her theme "Why we went to War." Her graphic portrayal of this subject creating intense interest, as she described the anxiety and tension of those fateful days from the assassination of the Archduke and his Consort to the 4th of August, 1914, when Britain declared war against Germany, showing clearly that Germany was behind Austria in the impossible demands made of Serbia by Austria and also that just when English diplomacy had nearly secured the best of Germany to modify her demands of Serbia, Germany, evidently afraid that war might break out, made a most insolent demand of Russia, and followed in next day with a declaration of war against Russia. Now, wherever we made on Russia made war on France, as they were Allies, and knowing that England was too busy with the Constitutional struggles in Ireland to insist upon other Powers' aid, guided by their solemn and sealed pledges and obligations, they made a dash through Belgium towards Paris, showing that she now felt herself strong enough to throw off the mask and openly disregard all the obligations of civilization in her war of conquest. She must whip France before other nations could intervene. The easiest and shortest route lay through Belgium. Why should a scrap of paper be the way? But in the scrap of paper lay England's honor and International Civilization; yet in a last desperate hour to save the world this awful calamity England pleaded that Germany could stand still while her troops from Belgium

"Too late!" said Germany who wanted war, and England declared war on Germany, August 14th, 1914. Rev Bathurst Hall, the popular Anglican Minister of Strathmore and surrounding district, then took up the story of the war, saying that he need not go over the ground so vividly covered by Mrs. (Dr) Kene except to emphasize the early unpreparedness of the Allies. In an address of thrilling interest he described the early days of the war, the insolent advances of Germany as she ruthlessly trampled on hope less Belgium (whose neutrality she had pledged her national honor to respect) and enriched herself with the treasures of that industrious and wealthy little nation and then swept on towards Paris. The Regiments then drew a most vivid picture of the conservation through the Empire over the lack of preparedness and concentrated action on the part of the Allies, when to the wonderful plight of Belgium was added the Russian revolution. The taking of Poland by Germany, the dying walls of Serbia who had so confidently relied on the Allies' support, and the fact that they were clamoring for peace. Defense of the seas claimed victory. The Fleet was doing its part as Ministers of the Seas, but it takes a long time for even one great nation to get all its fighting forces into perfect working order when her possessions are scattered all over the world. Yet the opening of the 9th year of the war was seen this miracle accomplished. Germany's last line of defense is being penetrated and they were clamoring for peace. Dr A. H. Keane-T. Chamberlain. Resolved that this meeting should stand as a record of the appreciation of the valuable services rendered both as a Military Counsellor and guide and as representative head of the civil government, by Field Marshal H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, whose comprehensive training as a son of the Sovereign who had the longest and most glorious reign in British history, together with his later wide experience of war and as King, and great personal ability and strength, has so materially aided in ruling the Dominion successfully over the most critical period in its history, and whose presence cannot so truly fully fill the marriage view of making his people a programme of songs to be rendered and spoken in the hall, a full report of which will appear next week.

At a most generous "feed" the afternoon entertainment was brought to a close by a beautiful rendering of "God Save the King."

Why the Patriotic Fund Is not Raised by Taxation.

In view of the fact that a new campaign to raise money for the Patriotic Fund will be started very shortly, the central committee for Southern Alberta has just given out the following statement explaining why the Patriotic Fund is not raised by taxation.

Under the Canadian system of constitutional government, the right direct taxation upon lands and similar resources rests in the hands of the provincial governments and the Municipalities. The Province of Alberta would have the right to raise money for patriotic purposes by imposing a property and poll tax, but no legislator to that end has been named and could not now be named and made effective in time to provide the Fund needed this year to care for the soldiers' dependants, and it must also be remembered that under existing conditions the collection of taxes levied by the Provincial government or the municipalities is so slow that the proceeds of the tax would be at least ten times what it costs to collect the voluntary contributions.

The Dominion Government could, of course, provide a Patriotic Fund by levying so many millions of dollars for that purpose, but the government's action is already very much more than its income tax, and it is not likely that the Dominion Government would be met by the issuance of bonds. This would mean that the people of Canada instead of providing for the wives and children of our soldiers out of their income, would be providing for them out of borrowed money, which would have to be paid back in years to come, and these same wives and children of our soldiers as returns would have to stand in line with the rest of the population for their share of the money.

It would be poor assistance to families of our noble defenders that had that. It is the condition that in years to come they must pay it back with interest in some form of taxation. Under the Canadian system, levying is voluntary, and it seems consistent that those who from inability or desire are not in uniform should share their good spirit by a voluntary con-
